

Between Golden Ears

Nothing is better than looking at the world between golden Haflinger ears! Please submit your photos (Haflinger ears must be included!) to the AHR magazine, along with information about where in the world the photo was taken, the name of the photographer, and most importantly, the name of the horse. 🐾
